An interesting bit of gossip about the clothes worn by the smart set in Washington. The keynote of all gowns described seems to be utmost simplicity.

Already Washington is showing the effect of war on the fashions. Officers in uniform find themselves confronted on every hand by brick and busy young women in khaki with service hats and military boots. The latter, to be sure, are of Russian leather, laced in feminine fashion, but still are boots, with low heels and high tops, leaving no excuse for the former summer display of silk hosiery.

These uniformed maids and a few young matrons are the advance guard of the National service school of the Navy League, which opens its second season Monday with an enrollment of nearly 100 members.

With the hat and no one without the spirit of a real soldier will wear this hat! The uniform would pass as an extremely practical and becoming utility suit. The circular skirt, but tucked in front from waist to hem, is only two inches shorter than the ultra-smart skirt of the season, and the jacket, a box-pleated belted model covering the hips, a real Norfolk jacket. When the brown flannel skirt gives place to a white blouse and the soldierette removes her hat, she is only to be distinguished from a dozen other young women one meets in a morning walk by the material of her costume. For this model has already been duplicated many times in linen or lighter fabric before the end of the month, giving to the women of the country a standard model in a two-piece suit, which is uniformly becoming, convenient and of moderate price.

Mrs. Dewey, widow of the Admiral of the Navy, heads the list of prominent women giving actual service to this particular form of feminine preparedness.

Some young women famous for their smart attire, who have temporarily abandoned silks and chiffons, voiles and embroidered muslins for flannel and khaki, are Mrs. Eudora Clover, Miss Carolyn Nash, Miss Anne Hopkins, Miss Helen Parker and Mrs. Howard Hume.

The riot of color that threatened the American Vanity Fair as a marked feature of the season seems to have skipped the national capital, where the best-dressed women of both the official and resident circles are avoiding state effects.

Mrs. Robert Lansing, Mrs. William G. McAdoo and Mrs. Franklin K. Lane, who were among the deeply interested operators at the Capitol several days last week, on each occasion wore plain tailored suits in new models with conservative hats which matched the suits. Mrs. Lansing, who is partial to bright-tinted evening gowns, but dark ones for the streets, has a very deep purple serge coat suit with straw hat and violets. Mrs. McAdoo wore blue serge, with a trim hat of black straw, trimmed in curve gulls poised in a very becoming fashion, and Mrs. Lane a dark blue coat suit decorated with several widths of black silk braid, topped by a round hat in black straw, with its crown encircled by small deep-toned pink rosebuds in their own foliage. Each made a most attractive picture of a typical Washington matron showing an intelligent interest in the affairs of her country.

Mrs. Henry D. Flood, wife of the chairman of Foreign Affairs, seated in the members' gallery, looked extremely smart in a dark blue tailored suit, showing a frilled blouse of white muslin, with deep collar and cuffs, the latter turned back over the jacket sleeve. Her hat was black Milan, trimmed in gaura, with its broad brim rolled slightly at one side.

Even Miss Jeanette Rankin, the Hon. Jeannette Rankin, to give her full title—subscribes to the distinctly feminine, rather than the severe tailleur, or even the present-day military styles of dress. When the roll was called on the war note in the House of Representatives, Miss Rankin wore a one-piece black charmeuse, with the new full skirt gathered at the normal waist line and allowed to fall straight to the ankles. The top was also of the round model, smooth fitting to the shoulders, with the fullest meeting that of the skirt under the soft girder of the charmeuse. The collar was of white net in an extremely up-to-the-minute form, with the rounded rather than the Dutch or V-shaped neck, showed its wearer's finely curved throat, and broad enough to come to the shoulder before tapering toward Woman Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after Three Years Suffering.

Buffalo, N. Y.—"I am the mother of four children, and for nearly three years suffered from a female trouble with pains in my back and side and a general weakness. I had professional attendance most of that time but did not seem to get well. As a last resort I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which I had seen advertised in the newspapers, and in two weeks noticed a marked improvement. I continued its use and am now free from pain and able to do all my household work."—Mrs. B. B. ZIMMERMAN, 284 Wolcott Ave., Buffalo, N. Y.

Women who recover their health, naturally tell others what helped them. Some write and allow their names and photographs to be published with testimonials. Many more tell their friends. If you need a medicine for women's ailments, try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) for anything you need to know about these troubles.

the belt. Furthermore, this first-in-peace and last-in-war, but first-in-Congress, voter wore white net under sleeves from her elbow to wrist, the back sleeves of her frock being of the latest bell-shaped variety just to her elbow.

Silks of every kind and foldings in particular are being extensively featured, with polka dots claiming a first place either in entire costumes or in combination.

Mrs. Sheridan wore to one of the first spring luncheons a beautiful satin striped foulard in biscuit color with a polka dot hardly larger than a pin head, forming a well-defined all-over pattern. The skirt was just off the ground, with an out-and-out overskirt of twenty years ago brought up to the minute in a new method of confining the fulness in pleats. The bodice was a coatee effect with very graceful soft collar of midnight blue chiffon over a velvet of cream net. The sleeves are bell shaped, ending half way between elbow and wrist, with undersleeves of net and cuffs of the chiffon. Velvet in the dark blue forms a deep girder. The latter fastens on the left side with a fascinating ornament of large and small beads in blue and amber, crystal and jet.

MRS. DUTTON ENTERTAINS
That hospitality and the social graces do not depend absolutely on a lavish expenditure of money is being demonstrated daily at the numerous little neighborhood assemblies that have brightened the week just past. Luncheon and tea parties have been numerous, and no one deprecates the fact that they are not complex, costly affairs. Everyone welcomes a return to simplicity, and most of all do the very people who have been in the whirl of extravagance with all its tedious formality.

Mrs. Henry Foster Dutton added to the week's pastimes by assembling her neighbors at a luncheon and bridge party at the Burlingame Country Club. Her guests were Mesdames Charles Templeton Crocker, Joseph Tobin, Arthur Miles, George Barr Baker, J. Cheever Cowdin, George T. Cameron, Clement Tobin, Malcolm Whitman, Walter Filer, Ross Ambler, Curran, Montford S. Wilson, Kenneth Moore, Richard McGreevey, Robert Hayes Smith, Eugene Murphy, Marion Lord, Samuel Knight, Cyril Tobin, Thomas Eastland.—San Francisco Examiner.

ROYAL VISITORS IN NATIONAL CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 16.—With the President and Mrs. Wilson planning to remain in the White House all summer, with no greater diversion for the former than a game of golf after a 7 o'clock breakfast and a motor ride after a 7 o'clock dinner, official society is making its plans to remain, if not in town, so close as to reach the executive offices, the Capitol or the White House by a short motor run.

Scores of homes usually showing boarded front doors and drawn shades at this date are not only open but in their summer furnishings are the scene of delightful hospitalities, even though every one recognizes that a state of war exists.

The succession of distinguished visitors in is itself a reason for breakfasts, dinners and receptions such as are rarely seen in Washington except in the height of the official season.—San Francisco Chronicle.

RESTARTICK-LACHMUND WEDDING
At St. Andrew's Cathedral last evening at 5 o'clock occurred the wedding of Miss Flora Lachmund and Mr. Arthur E. Restartick, with the groom's father, Bishop Restartick, reading the Episcopal wedding service. It was a hastened wedding, owing to Bishop Restartick's departure on the Wilhelmmina this morning for the mainland.

Mr. and Mrs. Reynold Brodie McGrew attended the young couple as best man and matron of honor. After the wedding all motored to the Kahala home of Mr. and Mrs. McGrew, where guests had been bidden to a chowder supper. Instead, it was a wedding feast. Later the happy couple slipped away to enjoy a honeymoon. On return they will live at the Restartick home on Emma street, where they will be at home to their friends.

MIDKIFF-RICHARDS
On Friday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Richards, will occur the wedding of Miss Ruth Richards and Mr. Frank E. Midkiff. Rev. J. J. Midkiff, father of the groom, has come from the mainland to perform the ceremony joining in wedlock his son and Miss Richards. Miss A. McManus, a school friend, who came this week, will be the maid of honor. The bridesmaids will be Miss Ruth Anderson, Miss May Sutherland and Miss Edna Curtis, while the groom will be supported by Mr. Arthur Wyman and the ushers are to be Mr. Harry Marsh and Mr. Harry Lucas.

It is to be a home wedding with friends and relatives in attendance.

SCAVENIUS IN RECITAL THIS EVENING
Fritz Scavenius, the pianist, will give a recital this evening at 8:30 o'clock at the cozy Lanai theater at Lanikaia. Mrs. Alexander G. Hawes, Mrs. Walter Dillingham, Mrs. Richard Ivers and other music loving Honolulu women have been promoting this recital and an evening of charming music will reward the listeners.

TO GREET VISITORS
Mrs. Elizabeth K. Booth with her two daughters, Miss Laola Booth and Miss Marjory Booth, will arrive home next Tuesday after a year's stay on the mainland. Miss Marjory has completed her education at Notre Dame but will go back to continue her studies with the violin and piano. The evening of their arrival Mrs. Clara Schmetz is giving a pot supper and dance as a greeting to them. Almost sixty guests will be in attendance.

Lieutenant Warfield Lewis, U. S. A., whose engagement to Miss Emily Bertsch was announced several days ago, has received orders which will keep him at the Presidio. He has been ordered to join the Twelfth Infantry. He was graduated from West Point this year and was first ordered to Governor's Island, New York. A telegram received this week changed these orders. Lieutenant Lewis' marriage to Miss Bertsch will take place in October at the Presidio chapel.

The sympathy of all Honoluluans and islanders generally goes out to the family of the late Mrs. J. Harry Fisher. Mrs. Fisher was indeed a kamaaina, having lived here over thirty years. She was wedded to Mr. Fisher in Honolulu. Mrs. Fisher was a quiet, gentle and dignified woman, who was always to be found in every place she was needed in and a distinct loss in her demise is felt by every one fortunate to know this gentle soul.

Mrs. Joseph H. Gray of El Paso, Texas, arrived on the Wilhelmmina this week from San Francisco, where she has been visiting for some time, coming on to join her husband. They will make their home temporarily at the Royal Hawaiian hotel. Later they plan to have a beach cottage.

Miss Sadie McLain left for the mainland this morning and will be with her sister, Mrs. William M. Minton, while there. Miss McLain will have a serious eye-trouble attended to while on the coast.

Miss Winifred Weddick arrived on this week's steamer from Notre Dame, where she has been a student. Miss Weddick goes to Maui to be with her mother.

Mrs. William L. Moore with her three daughters, Alice, Carol and Eloise, left for a three months' mainland visit today.

Mrs. Percy Morse, with her two sons, were departing passengers on today's steamer for a three months' mainland trip.

Miss Marjory Cappe left last Saturday to be present at the Schaefer-Williams wedding, which will occur shortly.

Mrs. Samuel I. Johnson and her son Ivan left for the mainland today to enjoy a three months' trip.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Norton Riggs plan to go away in a few weeks for a tour of California.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Cooke and family are going to Maui to spend the summer.

Miss Dorothy Peacock was a home coming passenger this week from the mainland.

Miss Vere Snyder of Punahou left last week for her Spokane, Washington, home.

Miss Sadie Carey is home from school and will spend the summer in Honolulu.

Miss Bertha Ben Taylor is a summer visitor in Honolulu from the Big Island.

Mrs. Deverill with her sons, Sanford and Herbert, returned to Kaula this week.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. S. Crabbe were arrivals from the mainland this week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Hills of Kaula are registered at the Young.

Mrs. Isabelle Creighton left for the coast on today's steamer.

Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Boyer are home from a Hawaii trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Sorenson are home from Hawaii.

COAST SOCIAL NOTES

Interesting visitors were in San Francisco last week in the persons of Prince and Princess Gregoire Chika of Rumania. The prince and princess were en route to Paris, the circuitous trip to San Francisco being the best and safest during these present times. Captain and Mrs. Charles Lyman entertained in their honor last Sunday afternoon at the Burlingame Country Club. A charming luncheon was arranged by Captain and Mrs. Lyman, and the following guests were invited on this interesting occasion: Mr. and Mrs. George H. Howard, Christian de Guigne, Jr., Edmunds Lyman.—San Francisco Examiner.

Miss Julia Van Fleet, who has been at the Van Fleet home in Livermore for the past fortnight, assembled a number of her friends at the charming country place this week. The party, which comprised Miss Ruth Perkins and her fiancé, Alfred Oyster, and Gerd Sullivan, was chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Clinton La Montagne. Miss Perkins has been Miss Van Fleet's house-guest for the past ten days.—San Francisco Chronicle.

One of the pretty compliments extended this week to Gen. and Mrs. Liggett, and there have been a number, was that given by Col. and Mrs. Lea Feibiger at their home. Col. and Mrs. Feibiger gave a dinner Wednesday night at which the guests were Gen. and Mrs. Liggett, Gen. and Mrs. Robert K. Evans, Mrs. Cecil Marrack and Gen. and Mrs. John P. Wisser. Mrs. Wisser is in Santa Barbara.—San Francisco Examiner.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Foster Dutton gave a dinner several evenings ago at the Burlingame Country Club in honor of Mr. and Mrs. William Leib, who recently took possession of an attractive place at Easton. The Leibs are being constantly entertained by friends down the peninsula.—San Francisco Examiner.

Ex-Governor and Mrs. George R. Carter of Honolulu were in town for a few days last week prior to returning to their home on the islands. The Carters made a leisurely tour of California, a pleasant stay at Santa Barbara being a part of their trip.—San Francisco Chronicle.

VACATION SCHOOL TO OPEN AT PARK

Plenty of fresh air, plenty of games, a little simple study here and there, and an occasional party or picnic—these are but a few of the attractions which should make the vacation school at Atkinson Park popular this summer.

Honolulu's first vacation school was held last summer at Kalahele school and was an instant success. This summer it will be held at the big, roomy park in Kakaako under the auspices of the Free Kindergarten and Children's Aid Association, which is to bear all expenses and provide the faculty.

The school will open on July 2 with Mrs. Margaret Waldron as superintendent. A special committee has been appointed by the association to be in complete charge. An excellent faculty has been secured and instruction will be given in sewing, carpentry and folk dancing. Samuel W. Robley of the Y. M. C. A. will conduct classes for boys a few days each week. There will be folk dancing, and lauhala weaving, and an occasional party, picnic or excursion.

All children who have nothing to do this summer are invited either to attend the school as visitors or to enroll in the classes. The school will continue through July and August.

CARDS SENT OUT TO ADVERTISE CONVENTION

The publicity committee of the convention committee, of which C. B. Gage is chairman, as a first step towards advertising the convention is sending out weekly cards to all civic organizations on the islands.

The one which was sent out this week is headed "You want good roads." The card goes on to say that the subject of roads will be considered at the convention. It urges everybody to come early and stay late. The convention is September 16, 17 and 18, and as Regatta Day is the 15th it is intended to be a feature of the week.

bara being a part of their trip.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Miss Jean Wheeler was hostess at a dinner at the Palace one evening this week. Mr. and Mrs. William Mayo Newhall, Jr., were the chaperones and other guests were Misses Kate Crocker, Helen Tower, Messrs. Lansing Tevis, Hamilton Rolf, Larry Williams, Gordon Johnson.—San Francisco Examiner.

Mrs. A. R. White of Honolulu, who is here for the mid-summer, was hostess to a number of her friends from the islands and from town, prior to the sailing of a boat to Honolulu. The affair took place at the Hotel Cecil.—San Francisco Examiner.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Welch are planning to pass a delightful vacation at Lake Tahoe with their children. The Welch will leave town within the coming fortnight.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Splendid program of events at Hilo on Fourth of July.—Adv.

Oil Stove Safety

The Florence is the clean, safe, simple, reliable, economical oil stove—ready to give as much cooking heat as you wish, when you wish it.

You can keep one or four—burners at an intensely hot flame, or merely simmering. To change the heat you turn a simple, little (patented) lever device. Burners close up under the cooking; no heat wasted.

There are no wicks to trim nor valves to leak. A glass "bull's eye" shows you always how much oil is in the tank. Upper reservoir holds a full gallon.
